ET Efficient Technology

The new fire-fighting vehicle from Rosenbauer for municipal operations.

Slim design – economical concept.

The ET series from Rosenbauer is built for municipal operations and combines tried and tested Rosenbauer technologies with a consistently efficient design. By standardizing the vehicles with variable designs and optional components, the ET series is able to provide fire departments across the world with vehicle technology and equipment that is precisely tailored to their operational situations. Great importance was placed on providing an economical overall package.

Rosenbauer develops and manufactures the powerful extinguishing systems and flexible body concept in-house. This guarantees optimum system integration and long-term availability of spare parts. The vehicle and all of its components are low-maintenance, thus reinforcing the overall cost efficiency. Optionally, the ET series is also compatible with common chassis (MAN, Mercedes-Benz, Volvo, Scania, Renault and Rosenbauer Commander) of 12 to 20 tons on different wheel bases. The use of other chassis is also possible.

The ET sets a new standard worldwide, a claim backed by:

- Tried and tested Rosenbauer technology
- Variable loading and variable concept with full height locker (roll-up-type door or folding steps) or without full height locker
- Safety and ergonomics for the crew
- Powerful firefighting equipment and uniform pump controller
- Efficiency in procurement and upkeep

Partner for innovative firefighting vehicles.
